Developer & Designer

Hello,

I'm not just a future web developer in .NET. I also enjoy working with graphic design. I've been involved in creating my own website for a long time, from conceptualization to the finished product. Having been an entrepreneur myself, I have experience in digital marketing, web hosting, and various other aspects. It all started with "Front-Page" in the early 2000s, then Wordpress, and now I'm excited to progress further and become a web developer, capable of creating everything from websites to e-commerce platforms and apps.

Through previous jobs, I'm accustomed to interacting with customers in a friendly and professional manner. I've worked in home care for several years and also in retail and other service-related roles.

Given my extensive experience in home care, I'm comfortable collaborating with others and working independently. I would describe myself as a creative and friendly person with a lot of patience and a knack for problem-solving.

In my free time, I enjoy spending time with friends, going for walks, and watching movies. Whenever possible, I love being out in nature, traveling, and appreciating art. I speak Swedish fluently and am proficient in English.

I look forward to hearing from you!

Best regards,
Veronica Axelsson.
